Adventure in Dubai

Dubai may be a modern metropolis, but just outside Dubai's city centre is expansive red desert and rugged mountains.

Off-road driving in the dunes, camping under the stars, camel riding, skydiving over The Palm, and sandboarding are all exciting ways to experience this unique environment. Even around the city itself you can go indoor skiing or ice skating, kitesurfing or diving among wrecks in the warm Gulf waters.

Desert safaris

Leave the air-conditioned shopping malls and hotel swimming pools behind – Dubai's biggest adventure is outside the city limits in the sea of sand that encompasses the deserts of the UAE. Local tour companies have sturdy 4WDs and superior sand-driving skills and can take you out into the dunes. Tours often include some 'dune bashing', a sunset camel ride and a night in a Bedouin-style camp complete with Arabian barbecue dinner. Businesses that run these activities are Arabian Adventures and Platinum Heritage.

Wadis

Many visitors to Dubai are surprised that, in addition to the rolling sand dunes and world-class beaches, the city is just a short drive away from the impressive Hajar Mountains. These mountains play host to one of the locals' favourite past times – 'wadi bashing'. 'Wadi' is the Arabic word for valleys or dry riverbeds formed by streams that flow through the mountain range. A bumpy 4x4 drive through the wadis (or 'wadi bashing') is great fun - and isolated rock pools filled with fresh mountain water provide the perfect place to cool off. Hiking through the Wadi's is a great way to get some exercise while taking in Dubai's nature.

These terrains are best for adrenaline seekers who can enjoy exhilarating drives and a range of action-adventure activities. The landscape is also ideal for exploration through trekking, mountain biking, abseiling or rock climbing.

Sand-boarding

There are some decent-sized dunes out in the Arabian Desert and what better way to get from top to bottom? Sand-boarding and sand skiing are very similar to snowboarding and skiing, only slower, hotter and scratchier. There are plenty of local operators in Dubai that will get you out on the sand.

Camping

Is there anything better than a night under the stars? Many locals, expats and travellers camp freely in the desert, and if you've got a 4WD, the possibilities are fantastic. You can head to the windswept sand dunes of Al Faqa the wadis near Hatta, the mountains of Ras al-Khaimah or the East Coast beaches around Dibba. If you don't have a 4WD, you can still find some beautiful spots within walking distance of well-paved roads, or you can organise a camping trip with a tour company.

Ski Dubai

The city's most incongruous attraction, Ski Dubai is a faux-winter wonderland built right into the gargantuan Mall of the Emirates. It comes complete with ice sculptures, a tiny sledding hill, five ski runs (the longest being 400m) and a Freestyle Zone with jumps and rails. Gulf Arabs especially are fascinated by this snowy display, especially the Snow Park with its igloo filled with carved-ice penguins and dragons. Skiers and boarders whiz down a forking slope, which at 60m may be an ant hill compared with a real ski mountain, but if you've never skied or boarded before, it's a good place to learn the basics – and at -1°C, it's a great place to escape the desert heat!

Gulf diving

Dive into the warm Gulf waters and you can nose around shipwrecks submerged on the sandy seabed at a depth of between 10m and 35m and encounter clownfish, sea snakes, Arabian angelfish and possibly even rays and barracuda. Dubai has plenty of dive operators that are ready and willing to get you out in the water.

Water sports

With calm waters and predictable winds, Dubai has a huge range of fabulous water sports. Water lovers can water ski, jet-ski, parasail, kite surf, wakeboard, wind surf, scuba dive, snorkel, or go deep sea fishing. For a waterborne adrenaline rush, you can try your hand at kite surfing off Kite Beach, water-skiing at the Dubai Marina or sailing aboard a skippered yacht from the Dubai Creek Golf & Yacht Club.

Hot-air ballooning

Drift high above the Arabian Desert and Dubai itself on a dawn balloon ride. The tranquillity is a sharp contrast to the chaotic city and the views are amazing.
