TAANZ NTIA - now it's time to vote

TAANZ NTIA 2018 voting opens today.

TAANZ chief executive Andrew Olsen says the association has been very happy with the participation through the nominees phase. 'It's now over to the industry as we get into the business end of NTIA,' he adds.

Agents will see a lot of new faces in the voting options for their favourite suppliers, and suppliers will see a change of faces in the brand nominees. It's a really strong line up and testimony to the depth and breadth of our wonderful industry.

'We're encouraging nominees to actively campaign in media and directly to their distribution partners and everyone is welcome to vote through and use these links in their campaigns. Good luck to everyone through the voting process,' Olsen says.
